Caviar

Calvisius Oscietra® - Russian Sturgeon Caviar
Characterized by a firm, large-grain egg, dark brown in colour with a golden hue and presenting a rich, nutty, creamy flavor. Cultivated from the Acipenser gueldenstaedti, an ancient species now flourishing due to successful conservation efforts in Italy. Chipped ice and a horn spoon is all that is required to fully appreciate this exceptional sturgeon roe.

Calvisius® White Sturgeon Caviar
White Sturgeon caviar is smooth and slightly nutty, with a firm texture. With an intense aroma and an unmistakable flavor, this exquisite caviar is large sized. Caviar experts will particularly love the translucent colour of the eggs, which can vary from warm brown to charcoal-gray or jet black. This caviar originates from the California Sturgeon and has been farmed successfully in Italy since 1981.

Calvisius Caviar de Venise® - Adriatic Siberian Sturgeon Caviar
Slightly smaller in size than the White Sturgeon and Osscetra, the Caviar de Venise exhibits a well-rounded flavor that lingers on the palate. This new addition to the caviar family is a recent Italian discovery. Served best simply and elegantly with doll-up of creme fraiche.

The alternative to the frozen products:

•Practical storage
•Immediately available
•Re-sealable stopper makes dosage easy to control
•Better bacteriological protection
•90% fruit in all flavors
•Pourable

Respect for quality:

•The colour is respected
•The flavour remains intact
•Bacteriology is within norms due to flash pasteurisation
Uses: As for traditional frozen purees (for mousse cakes, ice creams and sherbets, jams and preserves, fruit jellies, coulis and glazes) and also for cocktails, smoothies, milk shakes and granités etc.

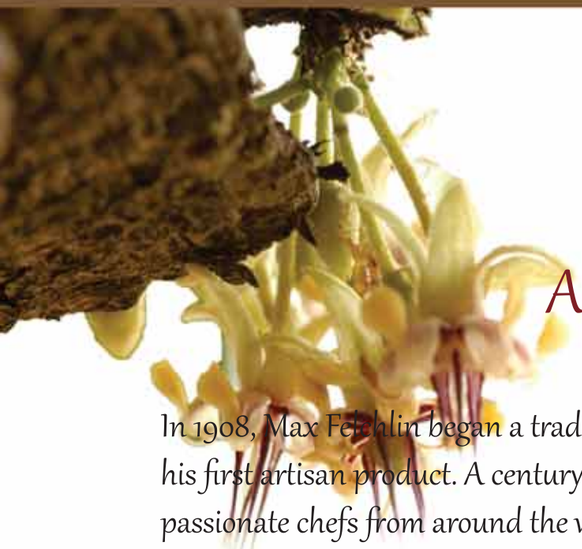
Cacao Sélection Felchlin



Felchlin
SWITZERLAND

A Tradition of Excellence

In 1908, Max Felchlin began a tradition in Swiss chocolate making and crafted his first artisan product. A century later, Felchlin's unique specialties inspire passionate chefs from around the world to push the boundaries of creativity in pursuit of gastronomic excellence.

Under the Grand Cru label, Felchlin Switzerland creates pure variety of couvertures made of noble-grade cocoa beans from around the globe. Only the highest quality beans are selected and processed under traditional, slow and gentle methods, which protect the aromas and result in a superior product.

In addition to chocolate, Felchlin's innovative products extend to the finest semi-finished components including fillings, pastes, decorations, and pastry shells.

Cacao and Sustainability

Felchlin Switzerland set itself guidelines to guarantee the sustainability of its cacao beans.
These guidelines include the complete traceability of the cacao beans to their origin.

Felchlin Switzerland cacao charter
- We know the farmers who cultivate the cacao beans we buy.
- We remain in close contact with both the cacao farmers and our local partners, including visiting them regularly.
- This contact and the regular visits allow us to be familiar with their work and production conditions.
- To ensure the high quality of our cacao beans, we always pay prices above those recommended by Fairtrade.
- We place a strong emphasis on the fact that cacao cultivation should be produced in harmony with nature as well as being financially beneficial for the farmers and their families.
- Our long-term commitment should ensure the livelihood of future generations of cacao farmers.
- We respect environmentally sensitive issues such as the optimal use of natural resources (air, water energy etc.) during our transportation and manufacturing processes and constantly strive for improvement in this area.
